THE FATE OF MADERO STILL IN THE BALANCE.

Plans for His Exile Halted by Mysterious Orders.

General Huerta Becomes Provisional President During the Night.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 20.—The fate of Francisco I. Madero, the deposed president of Mexico, was still in the balance this morning. Preparations had been made at midnight for his departure with the members of his family into exile, but these, although they had been ordered by General Huerta, the new provisional president, were suddenly halted by mysterious orders from the chief executive. The ex-president therefore until long after daylight remained in the capital.

Senora Madero and the ex-President's two sisters, Angela and Mercedes Madero, and his aged father, Francisco Madero, Sr., together with the family of ex-Vice President Jospino Suarez, waited at the station ready to depart for the port of Vera Cruz, where it was believed they were to be placed on board a steamer for Europe. At midnight, however, the hour which had been fixed for the departure of the fallen president, congress was still in session and almost at the moment when his train should have steamed out the legislators were listening to the reading of the formal act of resignation which Madero had been forced to sign.

Senora Madero and the rest of her party of exiles had waited impatiently for more than two hours for Francisco Madero to appear, but they were then informed verbally by ex-Foreign Minister Pedro Lascurain, acting on the orders of Provisional President Huerta, that the ex-president would be prevented from joining them on their journey. Senor Lascurain said he was unable to give any explanation of the delay, and, fearing the intentions of General Huerta in regard to her husband, Senora Madero wept profusely. She and her party then left the station and went back into the city.

General Victoriano Huerta became provisional president of Mexico last night. He took the oath of office at 11:25 o'clock, succeeding Pedro Lascurain. Prior to the naming of General Huerta he was appointed a cabinet minister, so that the legal succession to the presidency would be maintained.

Pedro Lascurain took the oath as president of ad interim in his capacity as minister of foreign affairs. The naming of Senor Lascurain by congress at a prolonged session was merely incidental and was followed soon by the selection of General Huerta to the presidency. February 19 will be remembered as the date on which Mexico had within an hour three presidents. One of them, Francisco I. Madero, had been deposed, but he legally retained his title until the resignation of himself and Jose Pinto Suarez, as vice president.

After the resignation of Madero and Pinto Suarez had been accepted, Pedro Lascurain as minister of foreign affairs was called by congress to succeed the retiring executive, and 25 minutes later he was succeeded by General Huerta, whom he had appointed minister of the interior, thus making regular the legal succession and enabling congress to name Huerta as provisional president.

The action taken by the special joint session of congress was preceded by a lengthy debate, but the ultimate result was never doubted by those familiar with the plan. It had been agreed by Diaz and Huerta that Huerta should have the presidency, and signed promises of a sufficient number of the members of Congress had been obtained to insure the success of the plan.

Provisional President Huerta and Felix Diaz continued the arrangement of the details of the future government today. The cabinet at first agreed upon by them was confirmed in all respects except with regard to the ministry of finance, in which Esquival Obregan was substituted for Carlos G. De Cosio. The candidates for the various portfolios were suggested partly by Felix Diaz and partly by Gen. Huerta.

by Francisco Madero and Jose Pino Suarez, which has just been published, was in marked contrast to the usual verbose documents written in such cases. It was in the following brief terms:

"In view of the events which have occurred from first to last in the nation, and for the greater peace of our country, we make this formal resignation of our posts of president and vice president of the republic, respectively, to which we were elected."

What was to be done with the ex-president was a delicate problem, which has not been settled this morning. It was said that he was to be deported from Vera Cruz much after the manner in which Porfirio Diaz was sent away. It was suggested that this exile was to be a substitute for a trial for the murder of Colonel Riveral, whom he was accused of killing at the time of his arrest in the national palace. The formal accusation was made against him by Attorney Carlos Salinas, before the attorney general of the republic, and it was declared that the charge was to be left pending in case he should attempt to return to the republic. Another story was that the government was considering the advisability of submitting Francisco Madero to a lunacy commission.

The closest estimates obtainable of the casualties during the fighting in the streets show that about 3,000 persons, the great majority of whom were civilians, many of them women and children, were killed. Several hundred were wounded. Numerous instances have been recorded in which whole families were wiped out by exploding shells, while the penetrating fire of the machine guns scattered death through wide and populous districts. It is still a common sight to see charred bodies lying on heaps of trash which had been set on fire.

These are the days of fugitives. The families of most of those who stood high in favor with the defunct govern-

HEAVY LOSS ON EACH SIDE.

Battle Between Bulgarians and Turks at Bulair Ended.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—A terrific three days' battle between the Bulgarians and the Turks at Bulair, in the peninsula of Gallipoli, has just concluded, according to a special despatch from Constantinople. Each side is reported to have lost 3,500 men. Enver Bey, the Turkish general, was among the wounded. The Bulgarians had 100,000 men under fire, while 70,000 Turks were engaged, including the forlorn hope of 20,000 men commanded by Enver Bey.

Asked to Arbitrate on Question at Issue With Bulgaria.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 20.—Roumania today asked Russia to arbitrate on the question at issue with Bulgaria, Russia, it is stated in authoritative quarters, will accept the task.

REFRESHMENT PAVILION FIRED.

Suffragists Again Cause Destruction at Kew Botanical Gardens.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Suffrage paid another havoc-working visit to the Kew botanical gardens today and fired a large refreshment pavilion which burned to the ground. Two women were arrested.

The two women taken into custody gave their names as Lillian Lenton and Joyce Locke, aged 22 and 33 years, respectively. They were caught while running away from the scene of the fire. Each of them carried a bag containing a dark lantern, some cotton soaked in oil, a hammer and a saw.

When brought up at the police court and charged, the magistrate refused to release them on bail. They were told by the magistrate that their offense was not political but highly criminal. Joyce Locke thereupon hurled a book at the magistrate, which narrowly missed him. She fought desperately against her removal to the cell. On a previous occasion, November 30, 1912, Miss Locke threw one of her shoes at an Aberdeen magistrate, before whom she was brought on the charge of being in possession of explosives in the hall where Chancellor Lloyd George was to speak. At that time she hurled her other shoe at the head of the clerk of the court.

ELKTON THE DESTINATION.

Suffrage Hikers Leave Wilmington on March to the Capital.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb 20.—The "on to Washington" suffrage "hikers" left Wilmington shortly before 10 o'clock this morning, marching through some of the main streets accompanied by a crowd. Wilmington suffragists walked with them to Newport, the next stop, four miles south, where they were received and entertained by Mrs. Martha Cranston, president of the Delaware Equal Suffrage Association, who lives there, and other members. Later the pilgrims pushed on to Stanton, two miles, where there was a mild demonstration, and then proceeded to Newark, Del., six miles further south. It is the intention to move on during the afternoon to Elkton, Md., where the suffragettes will spend the night. Elkton is 18 miles from Wilmington.

REAR PLATFORM CAMPAIGNS.

Illinois Suffragists to Carry Them on On Their Way to Capital.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—A rear platform campaign, covering the distance between Chicago and Washington, will be carried on by the Illinois suffragists on their way to march in the big parade on the day preceding the inauguration. The women have announced that they will travel like politicians and expound the doctrine of "Votes for Women" as they pass through cities and villages on the way. They will start for the capital in a special train March 1.

Miss Grace W. Trout, president of the state organization, and half a dozen other orators will attempt to make converts to the cause among the crowd on the way.

SELECTING THIRD ARBITRATOR.

Board to Decide Firemen's Demands and Additional Employes.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—W. W. Atterbury, general manager of the Pennsylvania lines east and Albert Phillips, third vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, went into conference here today, to select the third man who will comprise with them the board of arbitration to decide under the Erdman act the firemen's demands of the eastern roads for increased pay and additional firemen on large locomotives. Should they fail to choose the third arbitrator within five days the federal commissioner of labor and the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission must select the man to fill the place. Within 10 days from the selection of the third man the board must begin its hearings and within 30 days it must make known its findings.

After the arbitrators hand down their decision W. S. Carter, president of the brotherhood, plans to call a meeting of the heads of other railway labor organizations and representatives of the railroad to consider amendments to the Erdman act. Among the amendments proposed is one to extend the time limit, within which the board must make its finding from 30 to 60 days, and one to enlarge the board to include at least six men.

SHOULD NOT GO INTO RAILROAD BUSINESS.

General View of State Guarantee of Grand Trunk Bonds.

Another Large Appropriation Asked for Providence Waters.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 20.—Governor Pothier's proposition to have the state guarantee the bonds for the construction of the Grand Trunk railway is meeting considerable adverse comment about the capitol at the hands of individual members of the Assembly. There has of course been no attempt yet to put the matter in shape as a subject for formal discussion. The opinion which seems to be most generally expressed is that the state should not go into the railroad business.

Today another proposition to tax the whole state for improvements in Providence, East Pawtucket and East Providence waters was introduced. Half a million of dollars is asked, in addition to that already secured.

An amendment to the tax act of 1912 was introduced, which if it becomes law will make all taxation the same and remove the opportunity to dodge on the 40-cent rate for intangible property. The plan comes from the South county but it is expected that it will meet favor in many parts of the state, and in Newport in particular.

After the session the Republicans of the house were called into caucus, but 10 or a dozen found it convenient to stay out. It was the expectation that there was to be a raking over of the Republicans who had dared assist the Democrats in pulling out of committees acts which the powers had decreed should be lost in pigeon-holes.

The senate judiciary committee this afternoon is holding a hearing on the 54-hour law, particular attention being paid to the mercantile or department store part of the problem.

In the senate Governor Pothier announced the appointment of Dr. Bertram W. Storrs of Portsmouth as medical examiner, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Minot A. Steele.

The governor also communicated a letter from Secretary of State Knox, proposing that there be submitted for uniform legislative action an amendment to the constitution, providing for the election of United States Senators by the people. The matter was referred to the committee on judiciary.

Senator Walker of South Kingston introduced an amendment to the new tax law. It proposes to abolish the 40-cent rate on intangible property, allowing a uniform rate on tangible and intangible property and real estate, to be fixed by the local assessors in the towns where the property is located. Referred to the judiciary committee. It has been felt since the legislature opened that this act would be a subject for amendment at this session, but it was not known how and where the break would come.

Senator Pierce of Cranston presented, by request, a resolution to Congress, for a constitutional amendment against polygamy. Judiciary committee.

In the house Mr. Peck of Barrington introduced a resolution providing for the issue of $600,000 of bonds for the improvement of the state harbors, the work to be under the control of the Harbor Improvement Commission an dto be in the Providence, East Providence and Pawtucket harbors. Finance committee.

Mr. Lawton of Newport introduced a resolution permitting the use of the Newport state armory on the night of April 10 by Camp Thomas, Spanish War veterans, for a social. Militia committee.

Mr. Harris of Smithfield introduced an amendment to the act on mill dams and reservoirs. Judiciary committee.

Mr. Hammill of Bristol presented a number of petitions for the passage of the 54-hour law.

Mr. West of Providence asked that house bill No 3, on which the committee was discharged from further consideration yesterday, be placed at the head of the calendar for Wednesday. There was no objection and it was so ordered. This bill calls for the abolishment of the property qualification for voters and relates to a subject on which the Democrats have been offering bills for years. These have regularly been referred to committees and as regularly have failed to be reported. Thus, while the Republicans have not been compelled to vote against them, the Democrats have not had the opportunity to vote for them. It is intimated that some Democrats will not be favorable to the abolishment when they are actually put to the test.

CHAMBERLIN ASKED TO SPEAK.

Governor Invites Him to Explain Grand Trunk Scheme.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 20.—Governor Pothier today wrote President E. J. Chamberlin of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, inviting him to come here and appear before the General Assembly to explain his proposition for the completion of the Southern New England Railway. In a recent letter to the governor President Chamberlin suggested that if the money for the completion of the road, amounting to about $6,000,000, could be raised in New England the work would be continued. Governor Pothier proposes to have the state become second guarantors of the railway bonds.

WORK OF SUFFRAGETTES?

David Lloyd George's New Home Partially Wrecked by Explosion.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The country residence of Chancellor of the Exchequer David Lloyd George at Walton-heath was practically destroyed this morning by a bomb, believed by the police at Scotland yard to have been placed there either by militant suffragettes or male sympathizers with the woman suffrage movement.

Mr. Lloyd George himself is on a motor trip in France and nobody was injured, as the residence has not yet been occupied. The whole of the rear portion of the house will have to be razed and re-built.

An official of the Women's Social and Political Union said that that society had no knowledge of the perpetrators, adding: "Plenty of people besides our-selves have a grudge against the chancellor of the exchequer."

"General" Mrs. Flora Drummond, however, evidently believed the explosion was the work of women. She exclaimed: "I think it is grand. It was a fine act successfully carried out and shows the determination of the women. I say 'all power to all kinds of militancy in the direction of harassing [illegible] ministers, short of taking human life.'"

This is the second time within a year that violent methods have been used against the residences of cabinet ministers, the first being an attempt to burn the house of Lewis Harcourt, secretary for the colonies at Nuneham.

REFUSED BY THE HOUSE.

Dillingham-Burnett Immigration Bill Fails to Pass Over Veto.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The House today refused by a vote of 213 to 111 to pass the Dillingham-Burnett immigration bill over the President's veto. Five votes changed from the negative to the affirmative would have given the two-thirds necessary to override the veto.

SMALL-BOAT WHALING.

[Frederic A. Fenger, in Outing.]

I could see the whole of the action. The three whales were swimming abreast, blowing now and then as they rose from a shallow dive. Only one of us moved, and that was Caesar, and I noticed that he pushed the oar a little to port in order to avoid the bull and take the yearling. I had guessed rightly about the yellow streak.

But even the yearling was no plaything and as he rose close under the bow the sea slid off his mountainous back as from a ledge of black rock, a light green in contrast to the deep blue into which it poured. The cavernous rush of air and water from his snout almost sprayed Bynoe in the face as he drove the iron down into him. He passed under us, our bow dropping into the swirl left by his tail and I could feel the bump of his back through Caesar's oar.

I wondered for the moment if the boat would trip. There seemed to be no turning, for the next instant the flying spray drove the lashes back into my eyes and I knew we were fast. Blinded from the moment, I could feel the boat going over and through the seas, skittering after the whale like a spoon being reeled in from a cast. When I finally succeeded in wiping the hairs out of my eyes there was nothing to be seen ahead but two walls of spray which rose from the very bows of the boat, with Bynoe still clinging to the stay with his head and shoulders clear of the flying water.

THE PULSE OF A BUILDING.

Tracing Vibrations and Accurate Measurement a New Problem.

[Christian Herald.]

By day or night a modern city is never wholly at rest. A hundred disturbing factors are constantly setting up curious vibrations which travel in every direction. The tracing out of these vibrations and their accurate measurement is a new problem among builders, which has a peculiar interest for the layman as well. This problem of feeling the pulse of buildings is not limited to great cities, but often arises in comparatively small towns throughout the country. Let a train rush past the foundations of a high building, or even a low one, or a powerful windstorm beat against its walls, and the entire structure may vibrate like a giant tuning fork. Incidentally, the problem is so well understood that accidents from excessive vibration are practically unheard of. The cradle may rock, but it never falls.

The measurement of the pulse-like vibrations is made much the same as that of an earthquake, and almost as accurately. The marvelously delicate instruments which are depended upon for these records trace curious pulsing lines, which show at a glance just how wide an arc the building swings through, and how regular is the recurrence of the movement. These readings are accepted in court as absolutely conclusive, and it is not uncommon for damage suits involving immense sums of money to be decided by these delicate tracings.

Public opinion is all wrong, or nearly so, as to the amplitude of the vibrations of buildings both large and small. Everyone has felt such vibrations, but one's sensations are apt to be very misleading. It is a surprise to many that the most violent vibrations are not felt in the extremely high buildings, as is commonly supposed, and as a rule those of solid construction. A vibration of three-sixteenths of an inch is extremely violent, for a movement of one hundredth of an inch is readily noticeable. As the records show, there is a peculiar method or rhythm in these movements, the building swaying back and forth through a given arc with the regularity of a pendulum.

Should hogs be better raised than babies? Two Iowa women thought not. They judged babies as cattle are judged and awarded prizes to the healthiest babies at baby shows. They started a movement for "Better Babies" which is spreading everywhere, and the Woman's Home Companion is helping. The March number tells all about it—15c.

FRUIT OF THE BANANA.

Forms Principal Food of Many People in the Tropical Zone.

[National Geographic Magazine.]

There exists a legend relative to the Christian inhabitants of the east that they believed the banana to be the tree of the source of good and evil, in a branch of the fruit of which the serpent that tempted Eve hid itself, and they add that when Adam and Eve became ashamed of their nakedness they covered themselves with the leaves of this plant.

The origin of the banana is given as India at the foot of the Himalayas, where it has been cultivated since remote antiquity, its origin in the new world is as doubtful as the origin of the American Indian. Native to Asia and Africa, where more than 20 distinct species of the genus are known, it is said to have been brought first to America from Spain early in the sixteenth century and planted in the island of Santo Domingo, whence its use spread rapid throughout the surrounding islands and the mainland. This has never been authentically established, however, and some authorities include the banana among the articles and plants that formed the base of the food supply of the Incas and the Aztecs before the arrival of the Spaniards.

Certain it is that throughout the whole meridianal American there is a strong tradition that at least two species of the plantain were cultivated long before the coming of the Europeans. Furthermore, it is singular that in all the languages indigenous to the region where the banana appears that plant has a special name, not proceeding from the conquerors, as was the case with the names of many other plants, animals and various articles introduced into America after its discovery.

Glean over the entire extent of the tropics of the earth, the fruit of the banana today forms in large part the primary food of a majority of the people living under the tropical zone.

WEDDED IN NEW YORK.

Miss Georgia Williams and Amos C. Schermerhorn.

The marriage of Miss Georgia Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Williams, to Mr. Amos Cutting Schermerhorn took place today at the house on Fifth avenue, New York, which her parents have rented for the season. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Nelson of Albany. The engagement of the bride, who is a niece of Mrs. George Henry Warren, was announced on the occasion of the wedding of her cousin, Miss Constance Warren, to the Comte de Lasteyrie. She had Miss Kate Schermerhorn as her only attendant, while Mr. John Schermerhorn was his brother's best man.

The bridegroom is a member of the Union and other New York clubs and has made his home with his sister and brother in New York. The bride's parents make their principal home at their country place at Stonington, Conn.

DOES THE COUNTRY DESERVE ANOTHER LINCOLN?

In October, 1858, one Abraham Lincoln, an obscure lawyer, from the West, made a speech in this city of New York. Passion was running high, and feelings were bitter beyond parallel in our history. He did not appeal to reason, nor did he denounce as criminals those who differed from him. He looked upon slavery as wrong; yet, as the constitution permitted it, he would confine it within its constitutional limits, forbidding only its spread into the territories of the United States.

May it be said, reverently, that he was holy enough to see two sides to every question; his enemy's and another side—was it his God's? Perhaps that speech brought him to his lifework, crowded into a momentous four years. And in the course of it, our fathers proved, even as we do, the old everlasting, uplifting lesson of history, that every age crucifies its Christs.

Leave Ireden the winepress alone; and of the people there was none with me," cried the Prophet Isaiah. What salvation was there not in this still, strong man in a distant land? When the Jews were not disobeying him they were making well-nigh irretrievable mistakes. It is of record that one stood for transfer on the eve of a bloody battle; and "statesmen" played the petty game of politics with the army and the union as pawns in the game. The enemy was less dangerous than the false friends in the North. Cabinet officers wrangled among themselves, and turned only in slander and hate that in all ages stoned the prophets. Where, save One, can a fool-proof world show such another Gethsemane?

Do we need another Lincoln? Or, what is more vital to the existence of this country, do we deserve one?

KEEP YOUR FEET ON THE GROUND.

[New York Times.]

Mr. Taft is a fine lawyer, he was a sound judge, has proved by many tests his ability as an administrative officer, and promises to become an excellent teacher. He has laid down at least one safe and sane condition.

Speaking the other night at the Yale Alumni Association in Washington he said that the men who have been teaching political economy in our universities in recent years have not kept their feet on the ground, with the result that the under-graduates have not been properly indoctrined in true Americanism. "In my small way," he said, "I want to contribute to the bringing of under-graduates of one institution to the realization of the benefits of being Americans"—not Bull Moose Americans, not Samuel Gompers Americans, or Munsey Americans, but just plain Americans with the American constitution as a light to their feet. All that is radical in the heresies of these times has been taught by those who did not know, by men who did not keep their feet on the ground, and it is gratifying that the President has declared this to be his purpose when he shall lay aside the gown of the statesman to assume the habit of the teacher.

PERSONALS.

....Dr. Frank Fairchild Westbrook, dean of the faculty of medicine, University of Minnesota, has been elected president of the University of British Columbia. He was born in Ontario 45 years ago, is a graduate of Manitoba and McGill universities and spent some time at Cambridge.

....John D. Rockefeller has arrived at Daytona, Fla., to spend several weeks. He was accompanied by his personal physician, private secretary and several servants. Mr. Rockefeller announced that he expected to devote his time to fishing and golf while there and did not know whether he would visit his brother, William, at Jekyl Island.

....William Ziegler, baking powder manufacturer, who financed Arctic explorations, left an estate which amounted to $16,403,899.33 on the thirtieth of last November, according to an accounting filed in the New York surrogates' court. Mr. Ziegler died in May, 1905. Since his death the estate earned $4,656,374.34 of unexpended income, the accounting showed. The total income for the last fiscal year accounted for was $1,216,592.67.

....General George Washington Custis Lee, formerly aide on the staff of Jefferson Davis and president emeritus of Washington and Lee University, whose death is announced, was the eldest son of the Confederate leader, Robert E. Lee, and a grandson of "Light Horse Harry" Lee, of Revolutionary fame. He was born at Fortress Monroe, Va., September 16, 1832. His mother was the daughter of George Washington Parke Custis, adopted son of George Washington and grandson of Martha Washington.

....The necklace which many society women of Washington are to present to Mrs. Taft, wife of the President, when she leaves the White House, has been ordered from a New York firm of jewelers. Miss Mabel Boardman placed the commission for the diamond necklace, which is to cost more than $10,000. She also left with the jewelers a photograph of the necklace now owned by Mrs. Taft, which she has worn this winter at many state functions, so that the design would not be duplicated. The gift was to have been kept a secret, but in some way it became known. The women who have helped defray the cost have been entertained by Mrs. Taft at the White House and she has been a guest at their homes. The names of the donors have not as yet been divulged.

PROMISE.

[Rachel West Clement, in Woman's World.]

The driving mist obscures the view,
But high on yonder tree I see
A robin tilting in the breeze,
As he pours forth his melody.

The chilly day is at its close,
What joy was mine the whole day long,
As o'er the patter of the rain
I paused to marvel at his song.

What ecstasy is in that laugh!
For laugh it really seems to be—
As he rocks gaily in the breeze,
And sings again his song to me.

It is the trill of joy he gives!
And cheerfulness within me springs.
Tho' wintry blasts may threaten me,
'Tis hope and cheer his coming brings!

A VALUABLE DICKENS SET.

What is said to be as complete a collection of first editions of Dickens's works as has ever been gathered together in America were the 92 volumes sold from the Harden library in New York this week, after keen competition. The great value of this set is said to lie in the unusual character of the documents, letters, manuscripts and the many original drawings for the illustrations.

Meet Me at Barney's

Children Learn Easily.

Every one knows studying becomes harder as we grow older—isn't it better to have your children begin now to master the piano, while their muscles are flexible and their fingers easily trained?

Any old piano shoul not suffice for a practice piano. To become proficient your children should practice on a finely regulated action in a piano with good tone.

The Jewett Piano

Has these qualifications. Besides, it is constructed to stand wear and tear for an ordinary life time. Without obligation of any kind on your part, may we show you the different styles?

FOR DESTROYER TENDER.

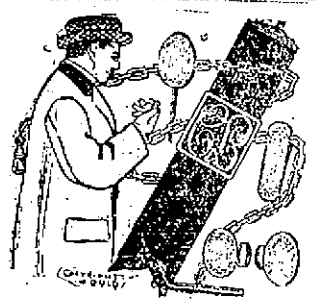

Plans Approved for First Specially Designed Ship.

Designs for the destroyer tender authorized at the last session of Congress have been approved by Secretary of the Navy Meyer. Bids for the construction of the vessel will be opened April 21. The limit of cost, exclusive of armament, is $1,315,000.

While this vessel will be known officially as destroyer tender No. 2, it will be the first vessel of the navy to be specially designed for the purpose. The present destroyer tender is auxiliary cruiser Dixie, which was purchased at the time of the Spanish war.

While the tender is not intended to undertake offensive operations alone, she will be armed with eight five-inch guns for her own protection.

Good advice may help a man, but a good scare is generally more effective.—[Philadelphia Record.

Newport Daily News

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1913.

EXCLUSIVE ASSOCIATED PRESS SERVICE FOR NEWPORT.

THE NEWS IN PROVIDENCE.

The Daily News is on sale in Providence the evening of publication at Union Station.

OUR NEW RAILROAD DEPOT.

Again we are assured, and this time from headquarters, that Newport is to have a new railroad depot. It has been known for some time that a new station was ours for the asking, but for various reasons there was little or no concerted action in this direction by the city officials and business interests. It has therefore remained for the incoming of a new mayor and the revival of the Board of Trade to secure what the city has long desired, but for which it would not ask in a way which brought results.

To Mayor MacLeod and the Board of Trade, through its representatives, Messrs. Titus and Clarke, is to be given the credit for securing in a few weeks—in fact, in two conferences, the assurance from President Mellen that the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company will begin as soon as possible the construction of a new depot, which in the words of President Mellen will be "in keeping with the reputation of Newport as a beautiful city." To best meet the needs of the railroad the building will be practically on the site of the present structure, and that location will undoubtedly meet the needs of the traveling public as well as any other. The erection of the new depot will not entail any immediate expense upon the city, although there is undoubtedly much that Newport can do to assist in making the approaches attractive.

The Board of Trade has shown that it can do things and Mayor MacLeod is carrying out the promises made before his election and in his inaugural address. The citizens of Newport will undoubtedly approve their prompt action and welcome success in this endeavor, lending encouragement to whatever they may attempt towards the betterment and beautifying of the city in the future.

AVERTING THE FIREMEN'S STRIKE.

Last year the railroad engineers felt confident of their power to tie up the roads by a strike and were averse to arbitration. The managers were also pretty sure that the engineers could stop the operation of the roads and were insistent for arbitration, which was finally and reluctantly conceded by the engineers. The result of the arbitration was that the engineers secured something, but only a very small part of what they demanded. They were frank in expressing their discontent, and there were even some loud threats of another strike this spring.

This year the firemen demand more pay, and the relative strength of the two bodies is reversed. They are not a highly skilled class of workers like the engineers. It is not quite true, what one of the railroad officials said, that "any husky coal driver" could fire an engine; it requires some practice as well as strength. Yet it is not a highly skilled employment. A man without any practice would not do well, but he would be better than nothing. The railroad managers say that if the men should strike they could easily fill their places, and the men are afraid this is the case. Consequently the roads are as indifferent to arbitration now as they were eager for it in the case of the engineers, while the firemen are as insistent for arbitration as the engineers were cold toward it.

The railroads, however, have yielded. A firemen's strike would undoubtedly cause them great inconvenience and delay. There would be bad congestions of freight, with much loss of perishable goods; passenger trains might be irregular and it is quite certain that they would not run on schedule time. So the matter will go to arbitration. There will be no strike and the traffic of the country will not be tied up. The advantage to business will be very great.

Arbitration is by no means so simple as it looks on the surface. Every time there is a labor dispute the public is ready to urge this solution, but arbitration almost inevitably results in giving the strikers a part of their claim. This is not in pursuance of any rule of right, for in the absence of a contract the question is simply what the employers are willing to pay and what the men are willing to take. How much more than the railroads pay ought they to pay? How can anybody tell except by the crude device of "splitting the difference?" The railroads believe they can secure all the firemen they need at the present wages. A strike is the only way of testing this, and the roads were quite ready for a strike. The firemen are afraid the managers could obtain the men at the present wages, and do not wish the matter tested by a strike. How is anybody to know how much the railroads ought to pay in excess of the wages which would secure all the firemen they need?

There is the further complication that the roads are held to be "affected by a public interest," and therefore cannot operate just as they please; they are liable to be checked at every point by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Acts of Congress and the rules of the commission have added greatly to the expenses of the companies, and restrain them from marking up their freight rates. Suppose arbitration adds largely to the operating costs of the railroads and the latter are prevented by the Interstate Commerce Commission from charging more for their services: what will be the situation? Of course, if the companies are making inordinate profits now they ought to raise wages and pay less dividends, but the dividends which they are paying do not suggest that they are making phenomenal profits, though their gross and net earnings for the past seven months have shown a great improvement over the year before.

Of course it will be the duty of the arbitrators to consider whether the railroad companies can afford to advance wages if they are not permitted to increase freight charges. It may be that they can, but the small award given to the engineers last year suggests strongly that the arbitrators on that occasion took cognizance of the fact that only a few months previous the railroads had tried to raise their charges and had been prevented by the orders of the commission.

THE MEEK AND THE ADAPTABLE.

There is a wide difference between the meek person and one who can adapt himself to every circumstance. The former generally does not recognize this trait in himself and wonders why he is made a target for everybody and why abuse is heaped upon him, not knowing that he lacks the spirit to keep out of the way of it. The latter sees bad qualities as well as good and gives them a wide berth, knowing that if notice is taken of them there is generally danger of bruised and hurt feelings and little chance of smoothing over difficulties. The meek person is generally considerate of all who come in contact with him, but this kindness is the very thing of which advantage is often taken, and many meek people are never successful in governing any one, whether in the home or in business circles. A few days generally discloses to any one with whom they come in contact a tolerance for ways of doing things which are wrong, but which they are too meek to point out to the person committing the offense. Thus advantage is taken of them in a score of ways by those who recognize their meekness and know they will not be called to account for things said and done.

Meek people are seldom respected as they should be, nor is their kindness of heart and consideration for the feelings of others taken into account. In fact, there is generally something about them which suggests thoughts of rebellion to their wishes. Often they are made to suffer by people who would not think of hurting the feelings of any one else, but who seem to enjoy going contrary to what they know is expected of them simply because this trait of meekness irritates them. On the other hand adaptable persons generally have an easy way through life. They know how to bring out the best there is in people, and without seeming to do so command the respect of nearly everybody with whom they come in contact and without apparent effort generally secure what they desire. Though perhaps not of as kindly a disposition as the meek, this fact is not recognized, for they adapt themselves to people and places with so much tact that they are always liked and obeyed in nearly all things without opposition.

This making one's self adaptable to all circumstances is many times a natural talent but it can be acquired, and by the meek as well as by the strong in spirit. One needs to study human nature and master the art of dealing with others according to individual weakness or strength. He will learn that it is after all easy to be adaptable to ways and people, giving a smile here and a word of encouragement there, and so smoothing his own and other people's paths through life. Such a study of human nature would be of real value to many people and would make for their own comfort and that of others more than many things upon which they spend much time without apparent result to themselves or others. Meekness of spirit causes a great deal of heartburnings in this world, but it is generally the adaptable person who reaches the goal first, with wishes gratified and scores of friends willing to do his bidding. It would be well if every one had in some degree this talent of adaptability to people, places and ways of doing things.

The question of lending the credit of the state of Rhode Island for the financing of the Grand Trunk's extension to Providence will cause a good deal of discussion throughout the state if it ever comes to the voters. The matter is a serious one. If the plan to bond the road is a good business proposition there should be no difficulty in the matter of raising money; if it is not such a proposition the state should have nothing to do with it. To stand behind the bonds might mean that the state will eventually be obliged to take the road and run it. And most of the mileage of the lines thus taken over and run would be in other states than Rhode Island.

The Democratic members of the House ways and means committee have completed their draft of the tariff bill which will be introduced in Congress at the beginning of an extra session, if one is called. The committee it is said has voted on every schedule from A to Z, agate to zinc, and made reductions in practically every one. While little is known positively about the proposed new rates, it is understood that the schedules are on the whole radically lower than in the present law, and in some instances lower than those proposed by the Democrats last year. This was to be expected from the new administration.

It is not recorded that any city which has replaced horse-drawn fire apparatus with the automobile has gone back to the old. Some bought early, when it was an experiment, and have discarded the original motors, but they have purchased later models which are free from the early defects. Two years is a long time in the automobile industry and things have moved in that period so that one not alert would not recognize the situation today.

It is of course rather early yet to feel the full effects of a Board of Trade, but such bodies are so general and their influence in other places is so strong that the local committee had no difficulty in securing favorable report on the railroad station subject. A committee which goes out representing the business men of a city is pretty sure to be cordially received, as it represents something other than political honors.

A movement for a Republican national convention next autumn or winter, to revise the rules regarding the election of delegates, has received a decided impetus through expression favoring the proposed gathering by Senators Root of New York and Crane of Massachusetts. Some change along this line is certainly desirable.

During the more exciting fighting in Mexico the Balkan war has received but little attention. Now it is reported that the bitter cold and heavy snowstorms have caused the suspension of hostilities. The winter may be worse than the war for the soldiers.

Representatives Lawton, Levy and Sullivan are working hard to prevent the establishment of a dumping ground off Rose island, and should have the earnest and active support of the citizens of Newport and Jamestown in their endeavors.

They are still at it in the General Assembly, proposing to tax the whole state for local improvements up the river.

A new railroad depot assured, and good prospects of a new police station. Newport is coming on.

The Maderos are quite evidently personae non gratae in Mexico.

TO SAFEGUARD PUBLIC HEALTH.

Regulations, designed to safeguard the public health, have been adopted by the New York department upon the recommendation of Commissioner Lederle. One of these pertains to the better protection of food from dust and fly contamination, and is worded as follows:

"No food (including every article of food and beverage used by man and all confectionery), except those fruits and vegetables that are peeled, pared or cooked before consumption, shall be kept, held or offered for sale or be displayed or transported unless protected from dust, dirt, flies and other contaminations."

THE BRAZILIAN MARKET.

[Philadelphia Record.]

Our trade with Brazil is already growing rapidly, and if we import from that country very much more than we export to it the reason is that Brazil is much the largest producer of coffee and rubber, and her imports are chiefly manufactured articles, which our own tariff assumes to be very much cheaper in Europe than here. The Brazilian government, in spite of our prosecution of it as a party to the coffee trust, is willing to encourage importation from the United States and has just reduced its duties on school furniture from 100 to 4 per cent, on hydraulic rams from 90 to 15 per cent, on welded wire fencing to 8 per cent, and fuel oil is put on the free list.

Two Providence Women Burned at Fires, One of Them Seriously.

Extensive Seizure of Mildewed Beans —Special Election Ordered in Scituate.

Two women were the victims of fires which broke out at opposite ends of Providence Wednesday night, and one of them, Sarah Hunter, is in a serious condition at the Rhode Island Hospital as a result. Mary McLaughlin, the second victim, was not so seriously injured, but was badly burned in her attempt to save four horses from a burning barn in the rear of her house. Miss Hunter, a 45-year-old colored woman, occupied the basement of the house at 110 Codding street, where flames broke out when an oil stove was overturned. The fire fighters found Miss Hunter unconscious on the floor of her basement apartment, with the flames eating up the mass of rubbish and rags piled about her. Delay on the part of the policemen or firemen would have meant death to the woman. Mary McLaughlin courted death when she ran into the blazing barn in the rear of her home to rescue the four screaming horses. When the police reached the scene she had already led out one of the horses at the cost of many painful burns about her arms and body, and was on the point of re-entering the barn to save the others when she was restrained by the policemen. The three horses were ultimately saved by the firemen, but the barn and adjoining carriage shed were destroyed.

The Board of Pure Food and Drug Commissioners has seized and destroyed 900 pounds of white beans in four different places in Providence. This amount carries the total of white beans destroyed in the state by the commissioners during the past three weeks to 1,100 pounds, 700 pounds having been condemned recently in Woonsocket. It was while a member of the board was examining some hamburg steak in Woonsocket that the first lot of beans, unfit for food, was discovered. They were hardened and mildewed from having been kept in a damp place, and were pronounced unfit for human consumption. He found that a firm in Massachusetts was engaged in shipping poor beans into the state, and an investigation was started, which resulted in the discovery of the four lots condemned in Providence.

A special election to fill the vacancy in the General Assembly, caused by the death of Henry H. Potter, representative from Scituate, has been called for March 5. This will be held under the state law, which provides that, in case of death, the town clerk may issue a warrant for a special election to fill the vacancy. Under the old system of yearly elections, it is said, no election would have been held, but, as the General Assembly was elected for two years, it was decided to hold an election at once, so that Mr. Potter's successor can qualify and sit in the present session. This is the only position which Mr. Potter held which will be filled by special election, all the other posts being within the power of the town council to fill.

The Independent Ice Company of Providence is cutting ice by moonlight at Norwood, in order to take full advantage of the present cold spell. Tuesday night the harvesting was continued until early Wednesday morning, when the men were allowed a little sleep. Work was continued at 7 o'clock Wednesday. Approximately 1,000 tons have been cut, and the company needs fully 2,000 tons more to fill the houses. The ice runs from seven to nine inches thick. It is hoped that the full crop will be in by the last of the week.

Marriages in Rhode Island have decreased nearly 1,100 and divorces have increased nearly 100 between the years 1907 and 1911, according to the report of the National League for the Protection of the Family, just issued. There were 5,659 marriages in Rhode Island in 1907, with 398 divorces, while in 1911 there were only 4195 marriages and 482 divorces. The figures for New England as a whole show almost a standstill on the number of marriages, there being 69,537 in 1907 and 69,797 in 1912, while there were 4,717 divorces in 1907, against 5,204 in 1912.

Some weeks ago Dr. Winship wrote that "the three men who are doing the most heroic things in educational progress" were to be in New England following the national meetings at Philadelphia. He suggested that they would like to visit Rhode Island and might address our teachers. Arrangements have been completed for a visit of two days, with addresses Friday and Saturday, March 7 and 8, at the State Normal School in Providence. The three men are: L. R. Alderman, state superintendent of Oregon; J. H. Francis, superintendent of schools in Los Angeles, Cal., and Charles S. Meek, superintendent of schools in Boise, Idaho. Dr. Winship and one of these men will speak at 2:30 Friday, March 7, and the other two at 10:15 Saturday morning, March 8. Dr. Suzzallo of Teachers' College, Columbia University, who is to speak in the regular course on that morning, will follow at 11:15 with his address on "Tradition and reform in education."

Joshua Kendall, one of the early principals of the Rhode Island Normal School and an educator of note, died Tuesday at a private hospital in Somerville, Mass., in his eighty-sixth year. He had been ill for some time. Mr. Kendall was born in Belmont, Mass., Jan. 4, 1828, and was graduated from Harvard University in the class of 1853. He immediately went to Meadville, Pa., where he became principal of the Meadville Seminary. He remained there a few years and then came to this state, becoming the principal of the old Rhode Island Normal School at Bristol, a position he held until 1865. He left to found a school for boys in Cambridge, an institution which he conducted until a few years ago.

Daniel Harrison Kulp, of the Senior class at Brown University, a guard on the 'Varsity team last fall and picked on some All-American elevens, plans to go to China next fall to take up educational work at the Shanghai Baptist College, with a view of establishing a new Brown University in China later. President Faunce is now gathering data for the project during his visit to that country. Before leaving for the Orient Mr. Kulp will be married to Miss Helen Grubb Wangner, a Sunday School worker of the Bergen Baptist Church in Jersey City.

Found probably guilty of manufacturing opium contrary to the act of October 1, 1890, the five Chinese who were arrested in Providence about 10 days ago have been held in $2,500 bonds to await the action of the United States grand jury, which will convene the latter part of May.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Cloudy, probably with local rains tonight or Friday; moderate, southerly winds becoming variable.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The Lake depression has moved slowly eastward, the centre being apparently near Alpine, Minnesota. It has caused rain or snow during the past 24 hours in the upper Lake region. Light scattered snows have occurred in the upper Missouri valley and on the eastern slope of the Middle Rocky mountain plateau. In the South Atlantic states there has been a fall in pressure and a weak depression is central at Jacksonville, Ila., to light to moderate amounts, has occurred in the eastern gulf and South Atlantic states. The northwestern high pressure central over the Dakotas has brought slightly colder weather. The only reading below zero is at Sheridan, Wyo., 10 below. The temperature has risen in New England and Middle Atlantic states. At 8 a. m. in Boston it was 37, New York 34, Washington 40, St. Louis 40, Chicago 40, Denver 18 and San Francisco 46.

FIRE IN THE GRASS.

Rubbish Burner All Right, But the Sparks Flew.

At 1:45 this morning a still alarm called the firemen to Russell avenue, out in the exterior of the city, where things seem to be nearly country. It always seem to Frank Corridon, according to him, and he "shouted" on the electric box. It seems that signs of coming fire caused Frank to gather up some material which could be burned and was burning it. He had been notified, for he bought one of the approved rubbish burners and was burning his rubbish in that. However, burning his rubbish in that burner was not fully sustained by the facts. The rubbish burner was all right, only it did not keep the fire within its confines. Sparks floated out to the grass, and he had two fires going. The one in the grass caused some alarm, but was cared for without any damage being done.

BEACH NOTES.

End of Dance Hall Moved, Allen Building Next.

The north end of the dance hall at the beach has been moved back to the road and all is now ready for the contractor to go ahead with the new section to be inserted between the two parts of the old. The movers have now turned their attention to the old Allen or triangle building, which is to make way for the addition to the dining room.

The Board of Aldermen is asking for bids for the extension of the board walk to the creek, but it is discovered that these are calling only for a 24-foot walk, while the east end of the present walk, where it must join, is 28 feet wide and there is none too much room at it.

The temporary band stand has now set through most of the winter, and because it was out beyond the walk it was felt that it would be good to experiment with, to learn what chance there was of a construction in that exposed position being washed away.

JAMESTOWN.

(Regular correspondence of The News.)

At the regular meeting of Conanicut Grange, Wednesday evening, many of those present were Colonial costumes and during the lecturer's hour the entertainment consisted of readings and songs. For refreshments a Colonial tea was served.

The second in the series of debates by the firemen was held Wednesday evening in Station 1. The question, "Resolved, That United States Senators should be elected by the direct vote of the people," was won by the negative, Messrs. J. Brooks and L. Anthony acted as judges and Mr. Burdick as chairman.

Plans are out for a cottage for Mr. Frederick Littlefield, to be built on his lot on the Carr plat.

By working Wednesday night, Clarke, who was cutting ice on the reservoir, was able to fill his house.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Remington Wright, who have been on an extended wedding trip in California, returned Wednesday to make their home here.

Weather conditions today again resembled spring and the ice men have abandoned the hope of securing a sufficient crop to meet the demand for the coming season.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Gordon King left for New York this morning.

—Mr. I. H. Bergman is confined to the house by an attack of the grip.

—The banks will close Saturday, in observance of Washington's birthday.

—The fire department has the new coal shed on the south of the headquarters building up and in use.

—The report about a new depot can be supplemented by another. Repairs are being made to the old depot.

—The Lenthal school is being fumigated by the Board of Health, as a precautionary measure, owing to the numerous contagious cases prevalent in that section of the city.

—Cargo Barnegat has finished discharging and barge E. S. Stoddard of the New England Transportation Company is being docked with another cargo of coal for the Perry Coal Company.

—Forbes L. Marshall, centre of the Rogers High School basket ball team is confined to his home with an injured knee, which will probably keep him out the game with Dean Academy Saturday.

—The weather has reached a spring-like state which makes one forget about winter and has caused the sentry at the recruiting depot to leave off his overcoat. Others feel just as did the sentry, and overcoats are rather minus for pedestrians.

—The teachers and all other city employes who are usually paid Saturday will be paid Friday by the city treasurer, if they call for their money. The reason for advancing the day is that Saturday, Washington's birthday, is a legal holiday and the City Hall will be closed.

—Miss Lucy Price, who is to be heard Saturday at the residence of Professor John W. Burgess, has been engaged in the anti-suffrage campaigns in Ohio and Connecticut and is a forceful speaker. The meeting is open to the public and men as well as women are expected to be present.

—Mrs. John Curran gave a birthday party Wednesday evening at her residence on Washington square for her two sons, Jean and Neeley. The guests had whist after the playing of other games; the first prize fell to Mr. Edward Brie, and the last to Mrs. Neal. The older people seemed to have about as much fun as the younger.

—The interest in the meetings at the Bethel Baptist Church increases, and Wednesday evening the congregation filled both the audience and lecture rooms, with many seats in the gallery. Rev. O. Paul Thompson, the singing evangelist, who is conducting the meetings, will give his evening the last of four sermons on "Hindrances to Effectual Prayer."

—One of the force of the local army recruiting station has been on a tramping expedition for the past few days covering the southern part of the state in search of recruits. Tramping through rural or isolated mill districts is one of the ways the service has of seeking possible eligibles for the army. The uniform, when thus shown in these districts, causes much wonder and admiration.

—The spile driver at work on the Armory land has encroached upon the sidewalk, as some of the supporting spiles are driven where the walk was. At this point it seems to have been rather wider than in other places. This spile driver also has done something else, for the Water Works men were busy today making repairs to a pipe which had been hit by one of the spiles. That is why the region near the Adams Express Company's stable looks like a section of a submerged district.

THE FATE OF MADERO STILL IN THE BALANCE.

ment of Francisco Madero, fearing retaliation, have fled from the city. Among them are the members of the Madero family, although the wife of the ex-president has gone no farther than the ranch near the Atzcapotzalco suburb. The other members of the family are supposed to be making plans to board a vessel at Vera Cruz.

Rumors that all was not going well between General Huerta and Felix Diaz were discounted today by the fact that the two men held frequent conferences regarding the conduct of affairs and frequently addressed each other by their first names. Ambassador Wilson was in counsel today with both General Huerta and Diaz and was made the recipient of frank confidences from both.

The activity of the followers of Zapata appears now to have been turned into a campaign against the new administration. A small force of rebels was reported today in the neighborhood of the capital and a detachment of government troops has been sent out against them. An unconfirmed report was received today that Cuernavaca has fallen into Zapata's hands.

There is no such hearty co-operation from the deputies, many of the members of which belong to the modern radical school of politicians and are inclined to look upon General Huerta and his government with distrust. A new interpretation of the soldiers' oath of allegiance, which doubtless will stand as a precedent, was made by General Huerta in his address to the students of the military school at Tlalpan, who began the revolt in the capital. Notwithstanding the fact that he directed the campaign against Diaz with vigor for more than a week, Huerta told these boys that they had acted properly and had lived up to their obligations as army men in striking "for the welfare of the fatherland." All of them were given commissions as lieutenants.

That there is to be no laxity in ordinary army discipline under the new rule was indicated by the prompt execution, in one of the court yards of the national palace yesterday, of a bugler who had fired on his superior officer.

The delirious scenes which occurred after the conclusion of the fighting have now given place to the customary calm in the city. The deliberations of the special joint session of congress Wednesday night provoked no great enthusiasm on the part of the people. This was not, however, because of lack of sympathy with the new administration, but because it was taken for granted that the session was a mere formality. The public had already accepted General Huerta as provisional president even before he had been formally named.

The greatest crowds seen are those engaged in sightseeing, the half destroyed houses and broken walls attracting thousands of the curious. The new administration is utilizing practically all the old machinery of government, although numerous officers were removed temporarily from their posts. Among these were the chiefs of departments whom the secretary for war placed under nominal arrest, but released after a brief detention.

Only the most optimistic residents of the Mexican capital pretend to believe that the substitution of Victoriano Huerta for Francisco Madero will result in the restoration of peace throughout the republic. It appears to be taken for granted that Emiliano Zapata, the irreconcilable rebel, will continue at the head of his powerful force in the south, while Dr. Vasquez Gomez, by the issue of his proclamation claiming the presidency, has rendered conditions in the north somewhat problematic.

Those familiar with the propaganda of the northern rebels express the belief that Pascual Orozco, Inez Salazar and other leaders may not be satisfied with the selection of only one of their comrades, David De La Fuente, as cabinet minister. On the other hand it is well known that the men who have been operating in the north are tired of fighting and have repeatedly said their main object was the removal of Francisco Madero from power.

The new administration appears not to be inclined to temporize with the rebels. It declares that everything possible will be done to effect a reconciliation, but in the event of the failure of its efforts in this direction it proposes to renew the war against all of them with more vigor than ever. Already federal troops have been sent to Cuernavaca to prevent the occupation of that city by rebels. In the meanwhile attempts have been made to convince Zapata that he should order his men to lay down their arms and return to work.

The new government has been proclaimed officially in every state of the republic and practically all the governors and the military commanders have telegraphed to General Huerta declaring their allegiance to him.

After the manner of newly installed governments, that of General Huerta began with the liberation of political prisoners, and the proclamation of a general amnesty is expected at any moment. Over 300 political prisoners have been released from the penitentiary and military prisons in the capital, while from Vera Cruz are to be brought those who were imprisoned with Felix Diaz in the Castle of San Juan de Ulua on the failure of the Diaz revolt in that city. Only three of those arrested by General Aurelio Blanquet and General Huerta at the moment of the overthrow of Madero remain in custody. These are Francisco Madero himself, Josepino Suarez, the ex-vice president, and Gonzalez Garza, who was governor of the federal district and who incurred widespread enmity owing to his close affiliation with the political group known as "La Porra" and which was directed largely by Gustavo Madero.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS.

Fire Destroys Many Buildings in Kanda District of Tokio.

TOKIO, Feb. 20.—Over 15,000 persons are homeless as a result of fire which swept through the centre of the Kanda district of the city yesterday. The fire, which started in the Salvation Army hall, destroyed 3,500 buildings, among them several churches, including the Baptist Tabernacle and a number of educational institutions, including the School of Foreign Languages. Troops were called out to assist the firemen, but they were almost helpless against the wind-driven flames. Many of the homeless were being sheltered today in Kadan park.

The official report states that two persons were killed and 100 injured, and the damage amounts to $2,500,000.

YAMOMOTO'S NAME MISSING.

TOKIO, Feb. 20.—A revised list of the cabinet of Count Gombei Yamomoto, made public today, does not contain the name of Viscount Chinda, ambassador of Japan to the United States, who previously had been mentioned for the post of minister of foreign affairs. For that portfolio Baron Nobuaki Makino has been chosen.

VISIT OF GREAT IMPORTANCE.

Dr. Sun to Secure Japan's Recognition of the Chinese Republic.

TOKIO, Feb. 20.—The visit to Japan of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, former provisional president of the Chinese republic, is of great political importance in the opinion of authoritative circles. Dr. Sun Yat Sen has been commissioned by President Yuan Shi Kai to secure Japan's recognition of the Chinese republic and to bring about, if possible, a commercial and political agreement between the two countries. Dr. Sen said today that he "confidently expected" that Japan would be the first nation to recognize the republic of China.

A YOUNG PHILOSOPHER OF 73.

[Boston Transcript.]

Dr. Martin Kellogg Schermerhorn of Cambridge, who has been the victim recently of a lot of misquotations concerning the possibilities of creating life by chemical processes in a laboratory, is one of the greatest of living authorities on the Oriental philosophies, and from somewhere in their mystic depths he appears to have extracted the secret of eternal youth. Last summer he went on a tramping tour of Europe. He was accompanied by an Oxford student, a 'varsity oarsman, and every night the young Oxford athlete was the more tired of the two when bedtime came.

And he is as young mentally as physically, he was one of the after-dinner speakers last week at the Delta Kappa Epsilon alumni banquet at the Boston City Club, and in all the bright array of talent nobody scored a greater hit. And after his speech, in response to persistent demands, he sang a "Dicke" song that he composed many years ago in honor of his college days at Williams where he graduated in 1865. He sang it, too, with a youthful zest and a resonant voice that made the incident one of the most impressive of the evening.

TAKING SOME FISH.

The fishermen did something Wednesday. Captain Peterson in the Thomas B. Congdon was high line, with 2,100 pounds; the Clara T. had 1,800; the Priscilla, Captain Kelley 1,650; the Alice, Captain Monson, 1,500, and the Marion, Captain Luth, 450. All are out today with the exception of the Priscilla, which is hauled out at Williams & Manchesters. The price of cod has declined so that one is not in doubt about the tag being moved from fresh salmon or bluefish, but can tell that it is really codfish.

GRAFT REVELATION PROMISED.

There are indications that Newport is about to have a graft revelation. It is said that a local reformer has secured evidence of graft having been paid by the owner of a certain house in the city. This evidence is reported to have been carried to the mayor, who in turn is proceeding and at least a resignation is threatened.

Five Teams Already Entered for Revival of Game.

An increased interest in bowling has evidently been aroused among the members of the Young Men's Christian Association and the revival of this formerly popular game is welcomed. Tonight Keefer's team, composed of men rooming in the dormitory, will roll Ward's team, and Mr. John W. Dorey has added interest to the match by offering a banner for the winner. Friday evening the G. A. C. will roll against the Young Men's Christian Association All Stars.

The following are the five teams already entered in the league, although the schedule has not yet been completed: Ward's, Carr's, Keefer's, the Lyceum Five and the Business Men's. Ward's team consists of R. Erhardt, H. O'Hearne, A. Mayeock, B. Ajootian, R. Jennings, Alex Thompson and J. Boyd. Carr's team—V. Buchanan, A. Eddy, E. Brack, W. Underwood, S. Reynolds, J. Nolan, G. Flagg. Lyceum Five—L. Robson, H. Wheeler, — Ward, M. Lee, A. Knox, J. Hoar. Business Men—John R. Austin, W. S. Sisson, Edward Griffith, W. H. Chapin, Percy L. Bailey.

The schedule is under the charge of the athletic committee. It is proposed to have the senior members roll Tuesday and Friday, and the juniors Monday and Wednesday evenings.

ICE CUTTING STOPPED.

The ice cutters worked at the Lily pond until 11 o'clock Wednesday night. Hot "dogs" were supplied for the men. It was a pleasant night and the ice rolled in fast. They went at it again this morning, but the weather moderated so fast that work was stopped about noon. The ice cut is good, though not thick. The quality being much better than that at Green End. The ice men are hoping for a change which will enable them to resume cutting, but the prospects are not encouraging.

Plans Nearly Completed for the Inauguration Ceremonies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—When Colonel T. H. Birch, military aide to President-elect Wilson, finishes his conference today with Senator Crane and other members of the Congressional reception committee preparations for the inauguration ceremonies, March 4, practically will be completed. Major General Leonard Wood, grand marshal of the inaugural procession, announced today that everything connected with the parade virtually had been attended to.

One feature of the inauguration ceremonies will be the prominent part taken by the collegians from Princeton and the University of Virginia. When President-elect Wilson leaves his hotel to go to the White House for his ride up Pennsylvania avenue to the capitol he will pass down a lane of college men, one rank being composed of Princetonians and the other consisting of members of the southern university, which gave him his degree in law.

The committee has made arrangements to handle the greatest parade that probably ever has marched down the capital's principal avenue. Prospects today were that at least 50,000 persons would be in line.

Pawtucket Coal Dealers Drive Themselves When Drivers Strike.

PAWTUCKET, Feb. 20.—The members of the Coal Teamsters' Union, numbering about 150 drivers and helpers, went on strike today. Failing to reach an agreement with the seven coal and lumber dealers by whom they are employed they voted last night to quit work. Today some of these dealers drove their own teams.

Proceeds of Sale of Canvases for the Martha Berry School.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—Proceeds of the sale of paintings by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President-elect, on exhibition this week at the Art and Craft Guild here, will be given to the Martha Berry School at Mont Berry, Georgia. The arrangement was made by special request of Mrs. Wilson, who has been interested for many years in the school, which is located near her former home at Rome, Georgia. There are some 50 canvass in the exhibition, nearly all being poetic interpretations of New Jersey scenery.

BAD TELEPHONE MANNERS.

[Woman's Home Companion.]

No well-bred man or woman would drop into a man's parlor before he starts for business in the morning, and engage him in a long-winded discussion. Yet I have known women interested in charities or civic movements to call up a business man at his home by telephone during the breakfast hour, and start the conversation by stating that they had chosen the hour, knowing that he would surely be "at leisure". They have ignored the crispness if not the bluntness of his replies, and continued to talk while his breakfast cooled or his affairs at the office demanded his presence. And finally they have wondered why their mission failed!

Would any woman making any pretense to good breeding enter your home at dinner time and engage you in conversation, knowing that your dinner and family awaited you in the dining room? Yet how often have you been greeted at the telephone with this remark?

"Oh, were you at dinner? Then I won't keep you a minute." But the minute runs into five or ten, the talker holding you grimly to the topic, nearest her heart, while your dinner turns cold.

Is it any wonder that business men protect themselves by sending clerks to answer the telephone? or that in many households servants ask who is calling and what is wanted before summoning members of the family? How else can one protect himself from telephone bores and the abuse of telephone courtesy?

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. D. Stokes of New York are at The New Cliffs.

—Mrs. Sims, wife of Captain W. S. Sims, U. S. N., has gone to Saybrook, Conn., for a visit.

—Mrs. Charles M. Bull is guest of Lieutenant and Mrs. Frank H. Sadler at the Training Station.

—Bishop Charles O'Reilly of Oregon will be at St. Mary's Church next Sunday and is expected to preach at the several masses.

—Senator and Mrs. R. Livingston Beeckman, who are now in Cuba, will return to Providence the last of the month. They are planning to sail for Europe the middle of May.

—Gunner A. B. McCrary, who was recently warranted, has been ordered to the receiving ship at Norfolk. He married Miss Helen McGowan of this city and is well known here.

—Deputy Sheriff Frank P. King, who returned Wednesday night from an official trip to Buffalo, Niagara and Erie, says the business on which he went concerns only a Fall River couple, and is of some two years' standing.

—Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, president of the Civic League, went to Providence today to represent that organization at the hearing on the bill which limits the working hours of women and girls in mercantile establishments.

—St. Joseph's Church was so filled Wednesday evening at the regular Lenten service that some were unable to find even standing room. The drawing attraction was Father Whittaker of St. Anne's Church, Providence, who spoke on "Why I Am a Catholic." He is a good preacher; not forceful, but of the quiet, argumentative style.

THE PRESIDENTIAL TENURE.

Political Reasons May Defer Move to Curtail the Term of Office.

Most of the Men Now in Public Life Will Have Passed From the Stage of Activity by 1921.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Two political reasons can be assigned as to why the Democrats in Congress do not want to have any measure go into effect immediately which will curtail the Presidential tenure. The Wilson men do not want to debar the coming President from a re-election if he wants it, and the anti-Bryan men do not want to give Bryan the prestige of preventing a second election of Wilson and leaving a clear field for himself in 1916. It has been said that Wilson has indicated that he would not like to have his possible tenure curtailed by a constitutional amendment.

The Taft men are willing to have the amendment take effect in 1921, as that would give Taft two more chances. The same can be said of the Roosevelt supporters. There is another consideration—if the amendment is put off until 1921 there are mighty few men in public life now who will care one way or another, as they will have passed from the stage of activity.

The universal peace union is going the limit in the way of peace offerings. It proposes that Great Britain shall be given a seaport in Alaska at some point convenient to her great territory in the northwest and some 500 miles farther north than the present Canadian outlet on the Pacific ocean. So far the matter has only gone to the "request" stage, as the resolution introduced for the purpose bears the fatal words of discredit "by request." One of the hot contentions in the settlement of the Alaskan boundary dispute was the effort of Great Britain to grab a seaport in Alaska, which our people successfully contested.

Congressman Mondell of Wyoming, who made himself somewhat unpopular with river and harbor advocates by opposing many items in the bill, says that in his opinion the Mississippi river should not be improved by building levees close to the stream, but by having them far back, so that there will be more room for the flow of the water.

"The present system," said Mondell, "narrows the channel, chokes the stream and causes the great overflows so destructive to property. The levees should be built farther back, and, though there might be 100 square miles along the river which would be subject to overflow, at least 1,000 square miles would be saved from the floods."

Mondell was considering the question from the standpoint of levee protection to the adjacent land. He says that the results of his plan would be better navigation.

Captain Lamb of Virginia brought the agricultural appropriation bill before the House, and it had the word Bermuda spelled "Burmuda." And of course Jim Mann jumped on it. He lashed the Democrats for not knowing how to spell a name that should have become known through a recent visit of a distinguished Democrat. "When Bermuda attracted their attention," he said, "by reason of the gentleman sojourning there they forgot how to spell the name because they were so intent upon hoping that he would give them jobs."

It is said that the prayers of the Taft administration have been fervent that nothing might happen to disturb things and compel any decided action of importance until after the fourth of March. The President did not wish to inaugurate any movement or to take an important step in the several complications which surround this country. But that Diaz fellow by his daring and the Madero man by his defiance set at naught the Presidential prayers.

General Clarence R. Edwards was for many years in Washington as chief of the bureau of insular affairs. Then he was made a brigadier general of the line and sent to Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming, "to perform in Senator Warren's back yard," as an officer put it. When in Washington not long ago Edwards told of the wind at Russell. "Why," he said, "it sweeps across there like a gale. It broke 2,600 window panes of glass the other night simply by driving the sand against them. I wear goggles all the time with fur around the edges to protect my eyes."

Since then Edwards has been ordered to command the troops in the Moro country in the Philippine Islands. "Clarence can discard those goggles," grimly remarked another officer, who was rather pleased to have Edwards made a "Manchu" or at least he can take off the fur down there under the equator."

Advice to the Heart Hungry

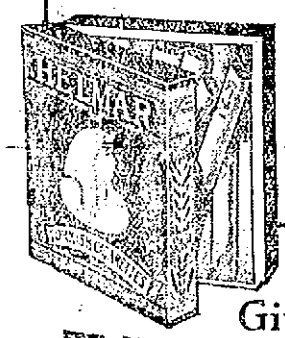

The Unreasonable Husband

Dear Editor:—

My husband, once so kind and loving, seems to be provoked at me. He insists upon having at least one hot dinner a week and complains of being tired of cold ham, my favorite dish. Club duties absolutely prevent me from preparing his meals as I was in the habit of doing before becoming an active member in eighteen social organizations. How shall I deal with such an unreasonable man?

KNUCKLES USED TO CRACK AND BLEED

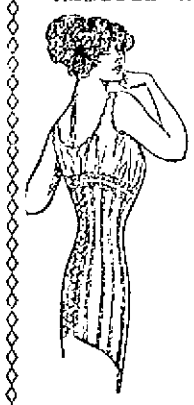

Hands Chapped, Suffered Terrible Pain. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment Five Weeks, Hands Fine.

674 Park Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.—"My hands used to chap and bleed and they pained me very much. When I put them in water they used to burn terribly, especially in hot water. My hands looked dirty; that was because they were so chapped. The knuckles used to crack and bleed and I suffered terrible pain. I tried different remedies but they never did any good. A friend told me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I got some and made a lather from the Cuticura Soap and bathed my hands, then I dried them and put the Cuticura Ointment on and put on a pair of old gloves. I was surprised to see how my hands were healed. They used to be red and rough and now they are soft as velvet. I tried the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for a week and they got fine. I have no more trouble with my hands since I always use Cuticura Soap and I can't praise it enough to all my friends." (Signed) Mrs. M. Weberman, Dec. 22, 1911.

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

POINCARE'S FIRST MESSAGE.

Pointed Reference to Necessity of Increase in the Militia.

PARIS, Feb. 20.—President Poincare, in his first message read to the two houses of Parliament today, made some pointed reference to the necessity of increase in France's military forces. After setting forth his conceptions of the presidency and the necessity for a firm executive power, he alluded to the noble ambitions of the republic and its services to justice, education, science, letters, art and finance. He then referred to the responsibilites of the present time and quoted the adage that "peace is not decreed by the will of one power." It was impossible he said for any nation to be effectively pacific unless it was always ready for war. France, with diminished power and exposed by her own fault to defiances or humiliations, would, he said, be France no more. It would, he continued, be a crime against civilization to allow the nation to decrease its forces while other nations developed their without cessation.

He eulogized the army and navy and then alluded to the diplomacy of France, having labored silently during many months "among the perils of a redoubtable crisis."

The message had been approved by the cabinet council and was countersigned by Premier Briand.

Best Known Medical Specialist in Italy Summoned by Morgan.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The Exchange Telegraph Company publishes a despatch from Rome stating that Professor Bastianelli, the best known medical specialist in Italy, was today summoned to Cairo, Egypt, by J. Pierpont Morgan. The agency states that the professor will leave this evening and is to remain with Mr. Morgan until he sails March 10.

Another Exchange Telegraph Company despatch from Rome says: "J. P. Morgan telegraphed a friend here stating that his condition has greatly improved, but he had requisitioned the service of Professor Bastianelli as a matter of precaution."

ANTI-TRUST LAW VIOLATED.

Charges Filed Against McCaskey Register Company of Alliance.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Violations of the Sherman anti-trust law are charged against the McCaskey Register Company of Alliance, Ohio, in a civil suit filed in the United States district court here today by order of Attorney General Wickersham.

To acquire a monopoly of the interstate and foreign commerce in the sale of account registers, appliances and systems for keeping credit accounts, the company, its officers and agents, it is charged, wrongfully and fraudulently have obstructed and suppressed the business of competitors, bribed their employes, employed agents to spy upon their business, waged an unfair campaign of patent suits, threatened suits and pursued other unlawful methods.

The court was asked to restrain the defendants from further monopoly and to prohibit a series of alleged unlawful and unfair practices. Among the defendants named is Josiah W. Phillips of Boston.

The defendant company is said to own exclusively the Dominion Register Company, Limited, of Toronto, Canada, which also maintains an agency in London.

THE FATE OF MADERO STILL IN THE BALANCE.

the brother of the president, who was executed yesterday.

The students of the military school at Tlalpam, who initiated the revolt in the federal capital 12 days ago, have been acclaimed as heroes by the residents of Mexico City. Already a public fund has been started for a monument to the memory of those of them who lost their lives in the long, drawn out battle. The survivors are applauded by the people whenever they appear on the streets and are everywhere showered with confetti and flowers from the balconies as they pass.

The soldiers of the two armies that only a couple of days ago were fighting are fraternizing today and describing the events of the bombardment from their different points of view.

No disorder has been reported and the city has rapidly resumed its normal aspect, although many concerns have found it impossible to re-commence operations.

Ambassador Wilson, who has played such a prominent part in bringing about the agreement between Huerta and Felix Diaz, expresses his keen pleasure at the restoration of peace. In this he is joined by every member of the diplomatic corps, all of whom have reported to their government the cessation of hostilities.

Felix Diaz today denied having official knowledge of the execution of Gustavo Madero and Adolfo Basso, the superintendent of the palace, and rejected all responsibility for their deaths.

The official report on the death of Gustavo Madero says he was being removed from one part of the arsenal to another when he made a dash for liberty and the officers in charge fired and killed him. Adolfo Basso was killed inside the rebel lines, according to officials. As an indication of the keen interest taken in the death of Gustavo Madero many people today sought for relics, and one person paid $25 for a fragment of his eyeglasses.

Juan Sanchez Azcona, private secretary of Francisco Madero, and Jesus Urueta, who had been prominent in the Chamber of Deputies as a supporter of the Madero government, were added to the list of prisoners yesterday. They had left the city in an automobile during the upheaval at the national palace and were captured at a station on the Mexican Central railroad between here and the coast.

A joint telegram was sent last night of the residence of Ex-President Diaz in Paris by Felix Diaz, his nephew, and General Huerta, informing him that he had been avenged against his former enemy.

General Huerta was the officer who commanded the escort of Porfirio Diaz when he made his flight from the federal capital to Vera Cruz in 1911 and the fleeing ruler said to him at that time: "The country must depend on the army as the only hope for the restoration of peace in Mexico."

NO FEAR OF INTERVENTION.

Foreign Nations Expected to Recognize New Government.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 20.—The belief that the danger of foreign intervention in Mexico has passed, now that a government has been established at whose head a military man has been placed, is freely expressed here today, and the sentiment is repeated by the press generally. It is popularly believed that foreign nations will make no objection to the recognition of the new government, since all the constitutional forms have been observed and the succession to the presidency has taken place without the power being seized by a dictator. The supreme court also has formally ratified the change.

General Huerta's cabinet will take the oath of office today and the routine business of government will be resumed. At the same time an ordinary session of the senate has been called.

General Huerta regards himself merely as a provisional president, as it is frankly evident from the promises he has made that in due time general elections will be held for the nomination of a permanent administration. Felix Diaz without any question lets it be known that he may enter the race for the presidency, and it is thought probable that General Huerta will not run against him. This is said to be one reason why Diaz made no effort to secure the provisional presidency, as he wished to be entirely free to organize and direct his party in the coming campaign.

MEXICO CITY BECOMING QUIET.

Sufferers Being Relieved by Embassy Relief Committee.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Order is being restored in Mexico City, Ambassador Wilson notified the State Department today. Relatives of Americans in the Mexican capital may send money direct to banks. Although quiet prevails by day, the ambassador reports many looters abroad by night. The embassy relief committee is actively relieving sufferers among the sick, wounded and destitute. Consuls report anti-American feeling subsiding in the state where the circulation of false statements concerning plans of the United States had aroused enmity.

The populace in Ciudad Porfirio Diaz appears indifferent over the results in Mexico City. Saltillo is quiet. News of the change was received with great joy in Durango, where the governor and federal commander assured Consul Hamm they would accept the Huerta government. Federal and local officials in Vera Cruz promised Consul Canada that order would be maintained. Consul Edwards says Ciudad Diaz is quiet. He said nothing had been heard from the rebels in the outlying districts whose actions might make the future problematic. Washington again is in telegraphic communication with Acapulco, long a centre of anti-American demonstrations.

POPULAR ELECTIONS A TEST.

Huerta Rule Depends on Recognition of Directing Powers of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The stability of the new government in Mexico in the minds of officials here will depend upon the extent to which Huerta and his leaders are willing to recognize the directing powers of the Mexican congress. So far as the record goes, the forms of the Mexican constitution appear to have been observed in the perfunctory elevation of the minister for foreign affairs to the presidential office for an hour or two before his replacement by a provisional president, chosen by the congress. The real test is looked for in the provision for the holding of popular elections and the willingness of the de facto government to surrender control to the officers chosen by the people.

So long as Mexicans alone are involved in the summary executions and deportations there can be no interference on the part of this government, although it has suggested that possibly Ambassador Wilson and other members of the diplomatic corps in the city of Mexico might unofficially use their influence for mercy.

War Department officials today were at a loss to understand the complaint from Governor Colquitt of Texas against the policy pursued by the administration in the conservation of peace along the border. Brigadier General Steever has established what the soldiers regard as a most efficient military patrol along the entire northern boundary of Mexico, and so far he has failed to report any causes of complaint which Governor Colquitt has mentioned. The general staff feels it unnecessary to add to the border patrol.

11—Advantage was taken of the high opening to market stocks and Steel, Reading and Union Pacific sold from ⅛ to ¼ below yesterday's close. New weak spots were uncovered among the inactive specialties. Linseed fell 2 points and Studebaker 3 points.

Noon—Bullish sentiment was chilled by the early exhaustion today of the spirited buying movement of yesterday and by the avidity with which stocks were put out on all rallies. Failure to stem the tide of liquidation in obscure stocks also curtailed operations for the long account. Although losses in the standard stocks were slight, the tendency to disregard favorable factors stimulated bear pressure. Trading was at a lower rate, the morning's business totalling less than half of that done in the same time yesterday. Bonds were steady. Money on call, steady, at 3½ per cent; prime mercantile paper, 5 per cent. Exchanges, $345,522,854; balances, $18,008,539.

SENIORS NOW AT HEAD.

Surprising Defeat of Junior Middles in Rough Basket Ball.

The Seniors now stand at the head of the Rogers class basket ball league, with their rivals, the Junior Middles, in second place, put there through the surprising defeat, 15 to 12, Wednesday by the Senior Middle team, which is now tied for second place with the losers. Although the other games have been rough, this was rougher, and the winners, on the whole lighter and with less experience than the Junior Middles, justly deserved the victory. One player was disqualified for roughness.

The Senior Middles started the scoring and were never headed. The Junior Middles' supporters, thinking their team was to have an easy time, were surprised and tried through cheering to urge their team along, but the Senior Middles' rooters drowned them out. The score of the first half was 11 to 6.

The Junior Middles came out determined to win in the second, but the defense of the Senior Middles was unbreakable, Sherman doing great work in covering and blocking. In the middle of the half Clarke pushed Fletcher, who had the ball, against a bench, and Fletcher began punching Clarke, who returned the blows. Clarke was ruled off the floor, but Fletcher was allowed to remain. Reavey hurriedly donned a suit and took Clarke's place, where he played well for the rest of the half.

For the losers, Diggles and Fletcher were the stars, and Scott, Geraghty and Sherman did the best playing for the winners. The summary follows:

Senior Middles.		Junior Middles.
Scott, r. f.	l. g.,	Diggles, Westerdahl
Geraghty, l. f.	r. g.,	Sheffield
Sherman, c.	c.,	Sullivan
Clark, Reavey, r. g.	l. f.,	Westerdahl, Diggles
Titus, l. g.	r. f.,	Fletcher

Goals from floor—Geraghty 3, Clark 2, Scott; Fletcher 3, Sullivan 2, Diggles. Goals from fouls—Scott 2, Geraghty. Referee—S. Chase. Timer—Knox. Time—Fifteen-minute halves.

AGAINST ARMY AND NAVY.

Rogers High School Lyceum Decides for Abolishment.

It was decided Wednesday evening, at the Rogers High School Lyceum, that the standing army and navy of the United States should be abolished, after two teams had debated an hour and several other members had registered their opinions in the matter, from the floor. It was the second regular meeting and there was a fair attendance.

The question was presented by Ivan S. Coggeshall and Harold R. Wright for the affirmative and by Harold S. Greason and F. Morton Lee for the negative. Different lines of argument were brought out, which were nearly all answered in the rebuttal. W. B. Clarke, Albert Knox, Henry S. Wheeler, Harold Knobelsdorff and E. E. Jemail also spoke.

A roll-call was taken to see how the question would be judged, as the society, as a whole, was giving the verdict. Nine stood for abolishment and seven against.

Several members had hazy ideas on various subjects regarding the constitution and by-laws, which were explained by F. W. Johnston. President John M. Hoar was in the chair.

FOR RECRUITING DUTY.

Lieutenant Thompson Ordered to Columbus Barracks.

First Lieutenant Edgar H. Thompson, coast artillery corps, has been relieved from assignment to the One Hundred and Twenty-Ninth company at Fort Adams, placed on the unassigned list and detailed to recruiting service at Columbus Barracks, N. Y. First Lieutenant Walter J. Buttgenbach has been relieved from recruiting service at Columbus Barracks and assigned to the One Hundred and Twenty-Ninth company at Fort Adams. Lieutenant Thompson, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Thompson of this city and a graduate of the Rogers High School and of Harvard University, has been on duty at Fort Adams since September 25, 1908, when he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the coast artillery corps. He is now on leave of absence in Washington.

JAW BROKEN BY HOCKEY PUCK.

John J. Moore, Jr., a student at the Rogers High School and one of the Daily News carriers, met with a painful accident while taking part in a scrub game of hockey on Easton's pond Wednesday afternoon. A player on the opposing side, who was advancing the puck down the pond, lifted it from the ice with a powerful swing in such a way that it caught young Moore squarely on the lower jaw. Moore was knocked out by the blow and examination later showed that the lower jaw was broken and a number of teeth loosened, the injury requiring the services of a surgeon and a dentist.

"BACKED BY SOLID REASONS."

Economy and Despatch Among Arguments for Postoffice Nearer Depot.

Two Thames Street Sites, One on Washington Square and One on Broadway Suggested.

To the Editor of The Daily News:

While little is being said in print about the new postoffice, perhaps that is only a way we have here, and not an indication that it is a matter of no concern to the people of Newport. It seems to me that we are interested, and that there is an opinion backed by solid reasons, why the new building should be nearer the railroad station.

I understand that a postoffice nearer the station would result in an annual saving to the department and if we could cut off say 10 or 15 minutes from the time allowed for the mails to reach the station, many a letter would catch a mail which it has to miss now. Then, too, I have excellent authority for saying that very little of the business requiring a visit to the postoffice comes from anywhere south of its present location; most of it comes from "up town." There seems, therefore, to be a strong argument in favor of moving. Of course, everybody would like to see "Postoffice Square" made a square. There was, however, opportunity awhile ago, and it was not done; are we sure it would be done now?

There are various good sites which one can think of nearer the railroad. Probably the one first in the minds of many is near the Government Landing. As the navy pay office, etc., are to be in the new building, this seems a suitable location, and with the amount named in the appropriation it ought to be easy to buy ample space almost anywhere in town. The consolidating of government property, too, seems desirable. Everybody, with the aid of a city atlas and a tax book, can figure for himself as to relative costs of sites.

A rough calculation, based on taking in the whole block between Market square, Thames street, the way south of the Titus building, and the Government landing, brings the cost well within the appropriation, and many would consider it a highly satisfactory location. That would give open space all around, and a frontage of about 110 feet on Thames street. The greatest depth of buildings now on the land is about 130 feet. With the police station removed and Market square beautified a little, perhaps, with but a few steps to carry the Jamestown mails, and taking into consideration other reasons, this seems to be a "logical" site.

To go near (and very near) the railroad station—which is a decided advantage—there is a sightly location, at the corner of Long wharf and Thames street. The buildings would not be difficult to remove, and the great bulk of the mails would then be but a stone's throw from the trains, thus saving much time in dispatching and receiving them. Carriers should be on the streets something like a half-hour sooner, which would be a great advantage to everybody. The centre of business is now near Washington square, and the location has a great deal to commend it.

By taking the property from Long wharf to the Read estate (including the east end of Northam avenue) a frontage of about 150 feet would be had. The depth would be about 110 feet to the Hook and Ladder house, and the Sherman estate would give a depth of about 230 feet. The lower end of Northam avenue could be used for a semi-private short cut to the trains with the mails, or probably an absolutely private way could be obtained over the vacant land of the Newport Water Works. All the land required is taxed for but $32,092, if I am not mistaken. There would be open ways on the east and south and most of the west, while a new space for light and air could be left on the north.

A convenient and conspicuous site (with less frontage) would be the block bounded by Washington square, Charles, Dulie and Marlborough streets. This would have ample space on all sides, and the rear would be very near the railroad. It would be a decided advantage to the city to clean up one side of Duke street. The cost of this block would be somewhat higher than some others, but the location is excellent. A rough measurement shows about 80 feet frontage, and say 250 depth.

Another site which would doubtless accommodate many business men would be the Smith and adjoining property on Broadway, opposite the City Hall, bounded by Edward street and West Broadway. This would give a good-shaped lot, with a front of about 200 feet and depth approximately the same. The property seems to be taxed for about the same total as the Long wharf and Thames street site, or perhaps $1,000 or $2,000 less.

The enlargement of the present site would give about 185 feet front, and if a depth of 200 feet were taken a calculation of tax value of the estates would be $3,001 more than the Long wharf-Thames street site.

If the citizens have any preference as to location, the proper time to make it known is before—not after—the work is done.

DEATH OF JAMES A. HOVEY.

News has been received of the death, at his home in Newton Highlands recently, of Mr. James A. Hovey, who for several years was head of the seed department of the George A. Weaver Company. While here he took an active interest in the Newport Horticultural Society and frequently spoke at its meetings. Mr. Hovey left Newport in 1897 and had been for a number of years connected with the seed department of a large hardware store in Boston.

NEW RAILROAD STATION ASSURED.

President Mellen Tells Board of Trade Committee Plans Are Ready.

To Go on the Present Site and Work to be Begun at an Early Date.

The Board of Trade committee on a new passenger depot went to Boston Wednesday and returned in time to report to a meeting of the board in the evening. It presented a written report, the burden of which was that President Mellen promises a new station, at an early date, on the present site. It will be remembered that last December The News informed the citizens of Newport that the company was ready and that all that was required of them was to ask for the station.

As The News announced then, the company desires to place the station about where the present one is located. It may be said that had it not been for so many ideas advanced in the past as to where the depot should be it is probable that the company would have sought earlier action.

The location is an important matter to the company, for unless it is right it may greatly hamper work about the local yard. Hence it is natural that the company has had its experts study the situation and plan a layout which will afford the greatest convenience to the largest number of interests. This is rather different from the way some of the locations in the past have been proposed, for generally it has been little more than the thought of some one that a certain place would be well for a station, and the thought has been passed along.

President Mellen told the committee where the road would like to build the station and the committee offered no objections. There was no objection to the location when the committee made its report, and it looks as if it might be smooth sailing now unless some one tries to press his individual ideas as to the proper location and secures strong support.

The committee's formal report to the Board is as follows:

"To the Board of Trade of the City of Newport:

"The committee appointed by the Board of Trade to confer with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company relative to the matter of obtaining a new railroad station at Newport has the honor to report that it has received the promise of President Mellen of the New Haven road to erect a new and substantial station, which will be placed upon substantially the same location that the present station occupies, with, however, an approach to Long wharf.

"President Mellen assured your committee that the new station would be one that the citizens of Newport would feel was in keeping with the reputation of Newport as a beautiful city, and that he would be pleased in the future to submit to the committee the complete plans of the improvements.

"Your committee recommends that the Board of Trade endorse the action of the committee in urging the immediate completion of the outlined plans and that the committee be authorized to convey to President Mellen the thanks of the Board of Trade for his courteous reception of its committee.

"Respectfully submitted,
"H. A. Titus,
"Wm. P. Clarke,
"William MacLeod."

The Board approved the committee's recommendations and notice of the action of the meeting will be transmitted to President Mellen at once, to show him that the advances of the committee are backed by the Board. This body in turn is supposed to represent the business interests of Newport, which in fact already are well represented in its membership.

The committee was thanked for the work thus far accomplished but was not discharged. It will continue to be the medium between the road and the citizens.

The Board voted a formal protest against making the channel between Rose Island and Jamestown a dumping ground for the Providence river mud, which will be sent to the legislature.

President Titus was authorized to appoint a committee on publicity and another on the feasibility of amending the city charter.

James R. Crowley, Harry R. Weaver, Daniel Lefley Dresser, Howard G. Ward and John F. Sullivan were elected members, their applications having passed through the channels required by the by-laws.

At the present stage it cannot be stated just when work on the station will be begun, but it is understood that a formal layout will be started at once. This when approved will be followed by plans for a structure, since the road's policy is to design a building for a given site rather than have plans drawn for a structure to fit any old site. When the general layout of the terminal facilities is completed and the drawings are submitted for approval many details will be brought out which naturally could not be talked about at Wednesday's meeting. The conference between the representatives of the road and the people on that occasion was only as to generalities.

A few years ago, when there was talk of a new station and the suggestion of many sites, there was a strong effort to have the station placed down Long wharf. On the other hand, there appeared to be many who believed the present location was best.

POLICE NOTES.

The police report this morning was short. A man arraigned for drunkenness refused to acknowledge that the police were right and so pleaded not guilty to the charge, and in default of bail went to jail.

Officer Grinnell was in from Tiverton with a curious specimen of the genus tramp, who gave the name of John Walsh and whose raiment made Joseph's coat take a back seat. Charged with going about soliciting alms, and sleeping in all sorts of unconventional places, he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in the state workhouse. Among his personal belongings was a solitary, twenty-dollar bill which had escaped the eagle eyes of the Tiverton police.

The latest reports from the window washers are that the man who was fined Wednesday is still working. His fine was paid, and apparently he is to work it out.

DR. DARRAH TO SPEAK.

An all-day conference of workers against tuberculosis in Rhode Island has been called for Tuesday, March 11, in Providence. The main topics for discussion will be "How shall we control the reckless spread of tuberculosis?" "Do our health departments and officers need increased power to successfully combat Tuberculosis?" and "A practical program for successfully combatting tuberculosis in Rhode Island." Dr. Rufus E. Darrah, president of the Newport Board of Health, will be one of the speakers.

WHIST AND DANCING.

Order of the Eastern Star and Esther Rebekah Lodge Give Socials.

Aquidneck Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, gave another of its whist socials at the Newport Artillery armory Wednesday evening. Twenty-eight tables were played, 24 in the drill hall for plain whist, and four in the social rooms on the second floor for those who preferred bridge. In the former contest the prizes were awarded to Mr. Otto James, Mr. Robert G. Diesel, Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. Johnson, and in the latter to Mrs. John H. Sweet, Mrs. John H. Sweet, Jr., Mrs. Elmer E. Gifford and Mrs. John J. Peckham. Dancing followed the card playing, Knowe's orchestra furnishing music.

The committee in charge consisted of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Langley, Dr. and Mrs. John H. Sweet, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John T. Allan, Mr. and Mrs. Max Levy, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Scott, Mr. Robert S. Burlingame, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Cowles, Mrs. French, Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Lawton, Colonel and Mrs. Frank P. King and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Smith.

A whist social was given by Esther Rebekah Lodge, in Odd Fellows' Hall Wednesday evening, which was also well attended. The first prizes were awarded to Mrs. E. Davies and Mrs. Charles Malley and the consolations to Mrs. J. Peterson and Mr. Robert Patterson. The committee consisted of Mrs. Frank E. Pinkham, Mrs. John Holt, Mrs. J. Herbert Barker and Mrs. Samuel Dodge.

X-RAY WILL BE USED.

Little Girl Backs Into Wagon and Is Run Over.

Wednesday a little girl named Ellen Mary Sullivan, daughter of Mr. Patrick Sullivan of 70 Burnside avenue, was injured by one of W. C. Scott's delivery wagons, driven by Michael Harrington. The place was beside the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association on Farewell street, near Broadway. The driver says he was going slowly and the girl, who was playing with other girls on the sidewalk, backed into the street and was struck by the front wheel and ran over by the rear wheel. She was taken into a house across the street and her father notified. It was not known that she was seriously injured, and she was taken to the hospital, where an X-ray picture will be taken, to show the nature of her injuries outside the bruises, which are apparent.

TO GO TO PITTSFIELD.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Will Hear About "Deeds Worth While."

John Hoar, boys' work secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, and a number of delegates, including T. Hawthorne Leonard, August Titus, Kenneth Morrison, James H. Williamson and Roy Jennings, will leave early Friday morning for Pittsfield, Mass., to attend the annual boys' conference of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, February 21, 22 and 23. They will return Monday afternoon.

"Doing Deeds Worth While" will be the conference theme this year, and the motto for 1913 is "Let Us Be Seen by Our Deeds." A number of distinguished speakers will talk to the boys, including International Secretaries A. E. Roberts and Arthur N. Cotton, Dean Charles R. Brown of the Yale Divinity School, Rev. James A. Francis of Boston, Lieutenant Colonel E. W. Halford, U. S. A. (retired), President Samuel H. Murlin of Boston University and State Secretary H. W. Gibson of Boston.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News]

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mary's and Holy Cross churches, which was to have been held Wednesday, was postponed owing to the absence of the rector, Rev. F. W. Goodman, who was taken suddenly ill Tuesday. He was obliged also to cancel the lecture which he was to give in Newport, on Alaska. He is suffering from an attack of the grip and under the care of a physician.

The regular meeting of the society was held instead, at the Holy Cross guild house in the afternoon. Miss Charlotte A. Chase presented an excellent paper on the history of the Women's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions. Reports were heard from the three delegates to the quarterly conference in Providence in January. These were given in the form of prepared articles and talks by Mrs. William M. Hughes, Mrs. John Elliot and Mrs. Phebe E. T. Manchester. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. George W. Thurston and Mrs. Newton Dennis, who served light refreshments at the close.

FUNERAL OF WILLIAM L. LOWNEY.

The funeral of William L. Lowney took place this morning from the residence of his parents, 470 Thames street, to St. Mary's Church, where a large number of friends gathered to pay the last tribute to the dead. There were many young men, associates of the deceased, among those in the church. Father Hines celebrated the requiem mass and the interment was in St. Columba's cemetery. The bearers were James and Ralph O'Connell, John Maloney, Daniel J. Sullivan, Daniel Doyle and James J. Hickey. There were a number of handsome floral offerings.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN BUSINESS.

The Board of Aldermen will hold the weekly meeting this evening. There is talk of a "kick" on behalf of the man who made the lowest bid for the ashes contract, but about what seems a question. The teachers' pay roll will be approved and the date of the meeting of the Council fixed. The talk now is for Friday, February 28. The reports are all mailed and will be delivered by Saturday, thus allowing the meeting to be held in February. There is some objection to this, because that is also the date of one of the meetings of the Royal Arcanum.

DEATH BLOW TO NEWPORT.

Would Ruin Summer Business and the Naval Base Project.

Levy and Sullivan Protest Against Dumping of Mud Near Rose Island.

At the hearing given by the judiciary committee of the house of representatives Wednesday afternoon, on the bills introduced by Representatives Lawton and Levy of this city, to remove the dumping ground for the dredging in Providence river from the vicinity of Rose Island, as directed by the harbor commission, Representatives Levy and Sullivan spoke in favor of the measures. They declared that if the dumping grounds were not removed it would mean the death of Newport and Jamestown as summer resorts and be a serious detriment to the permanent establishment of a naval base in Narragansett bay.

Mr. Levy said the dumping should be done where it would not interfere with Newport and Jamestown. It should be in the open ocean, he thought. "Even if the harbor commission has the authority to direct this dumping south of Rose Island, it seems to me that it would be a lack of discretion to use it. Newport has become a great naval base, and its waters have acquired a reputation for their clearness and depth. Along the shore are many expensive residences, and this dumping is a menace to these, as well as to the boating and fishing."

Mr. Sullivan accused the harbor commissioners of acting unwisely in setting aside a spot so near Newport for a dumping ground. He called attention to the efforts which are being made to have the government establish a great naval base here and declared that the dumping at Rose Island might prevent further serious consideration of the project by the government. "This is a matter of far more importance," he said, "than appears upon its face."

Mr. Lovejoy appeared as agent of the lobster interests, against the bill. He defended the action of the harbor commission in selecting Rose Island, which he declared to be peculiarly suited for dumping purposes. The two acts he declared were in the nature of special legislation.

Senator Arthur L. Smith of Barrington urged that the refuse should be carried out farther. "The idea of dumping mud on the two-hours ebb tide is all bosh," he said. "You might just as well say that the tide will sweep out the State House." He pointed out that the scows could go out to Breton's reef, dump their loads and come back during the necessary delay which would be occasioned at times by waiting for the proper condition of the ebb tide.

Henry Hays, who represented William M. Harris, Jr., argued that both bills were unfair to the proposed development of Providence Harbor.

City Solicitor Albert A. Baker appeared for the city of Providence. He declared that this is the only city in the country on tidewater which does not discharge its sewage directly into the water. "The chief consideration here," he said "is the navigation question. If you are going to double up the cost of disposing the residue, it may be a very serious matter. The government is now spending a large sum of money for a 30-foot channel here, and this committee should know what it is about before it puts any hardships in the way which might interfere with a project which means so much to the state of Rhode Island. To say that dumping shall not be done in the bay, and at the same time to allow every sewer pipe along the bay to throw in its filth, it seems to me is ridiculous. What is the problem of a few oyster beds compared with the problem which I have described, of getting the United States government to deepen our channel and keep it clear at the expenditure of millions of dollars?"

Commissioner of Public Works Walter L. Slade said that if the government knew that legislation was contemplated which might double the expense of dredging our harbor he doubted if it would take up the work.

Professor F. P. Gorham of Brown University said the question is a bigger one than City Solicitor Baker had stated. It includes the health of the people of the state, he said.

James A. Kinghorn, representing John R. White & Son, said the change of dumping ground would add materially to the dredging expenses of commercial interests of Providence.

Mr. A. Packard, head of the Packard Dredging Company, advocated the continued use of the Providence Island dumping ground. To carry the refuse out to sea would add 100 per cent to the cost. Even to carry it to Rose Island would mean a big increase, he said.

City Solicitor Blodgett of Pawtucket said he believed the matter had not reached a stage where it could be intelligently acted upon.
